

2010 Cape Cod Learning Community for Presbytery Executives and Associates

August 22-26, 2010
Paraclete Retreat House
at the Community of Jesus
Orleans, Massachusetts

This event will be an intentional learning community: a group of peers gathering together to provide mutual support for learning, reflection, and growth. Most, if not all the learning/teaching, is done by participants.

Each attendee will be responsible for a two hour presentation and/or discussion on a book, process, best practice or experience related to executive or church work, or faith.

“People learn best in community, when they are engaged with one another, when everyone is both student and teacher, expert and apprentice, in a rich exchange of experiences and learnings.”

Margaret Wheatley
“Finding Our Way”

The Community of Jesus, located on Rock Harbor in Orleans, MA, is home to an ecumenical Benedictine community. In 2008 they built Paraclete House, a new retreat center that includes bedrooms, a living room, a large meeting room, an extensive bookstore, and a large kitchen.

The accommodations are spacious, new, and comfortable. Both single and double rooms are available. Sinks are in all rooms, private baths are in hallways. A limited number of upscale rooms for two with full private baths will be available at extra cost. Meals are healthy, full, and with excellent presentation and service. Living room areas are available for meeting space and private reading. There is cell phone coverage and limited internet access with your laptop.

Spouses and significant others (but not small children) are welcome and are invited to participate or audit the learning events. Recreation and free time will be scheduled for several hours each afternoon. Extended days before or after the Learning Community are available by making arrangements directly with the Scribes Office at the Community of Jesus (508/255-1094 ext. 3501).

"For the past 9 years, the Presbytery Leadership Institute in Florida has discovered the incredible helpfulness of executive types to come together for learning and interaction. The Cape Cod Learning Community promises to be another opportunity to do just that."
